

CCC & CCCLF celebrate International Women's Day with 'icons' & 'masters'

MI News Service, Kolkata: The Calcutta Chamber of Commerce (CCC) and the Calcutta Chamber of Commerce Ladies Forum (CCCLF) recently hosted an inspiring event to celebrate International Women's Day. The event, titled "Icons of Change – Masters of Resilience," brought together trailblazing women leaders who have significantly impacted their respective fields with resilience and determination.

The event featured a distinguished panel of speakers, including Mona Sengupta, Founder-Director of Ahava Communications, CA Shivani Agarwalla, a six-time Woman World Champion in Kettlebell Sports.

The panel discussion was moderated by Dr. Tania Chakraverty, Dean of Students Welfare at Diamond Harbour Women's University.

The event was graced by the presence of Hari Shankar Halwasiya, President of the Calcutta Chamber of Commerce, who emphasized the importance of celebrating the achievements of women across all sectors. Also in attendance was Manjula Jain, Chairperson of the Calcutta Chamber of Commerce Ladies Forum, who expressed her gratitude for the remarkable contributions women have made in various fields.

The discussions centered on how women continue to evolve as powerful forces of change and resilience, overcoming personal and professional obstacles to emerge as icons of success. The event served as a platform for recognizing the power of women's leadership and the impact of their resilience in shaping a more inclusive future.

The gathering was a reminder of the strength and determination of women, reaffirming the CCC and CCCLF's commitment to supporting and empowering women in their professional and personal pursuits.
